ALL SORTS.

The Enterprise has an idea that Chinatown is fully armed for a big fight and about to wade in gore.

It is hardly necessary to call attention to the advertisement of Mr. Kaiser's Restaurant, as his place has been open sometime, and his good cooking speaks for itself.

The White Pine Grand Jury has indicted P. T. Dolan for the murder of Patrick Green at Cherry Creek on the 7th inst. His trial is set for Dec. 10th.

There will be but three Republicans in the Senate and nine in the House when the next Legislature meets. Guess Jones will not be requested to resign.

Some small boys discovered Paymaster Mills' money box in the sage brush near the shooting range. It had $4000—the last time Mills saw it, but there was no sign of money in it when Mills got it back yesterday.

Shep Gates, while going home from a fandango at Austin, fell into an abandoned shaft 50 feet deep. The Reveille says the young men who were with him procured a rope, hauled him to the surface and found that he was uninjured.

The vote in Washoe county in favor of electing United States Senators by direct vote of the people was 1250; against the proposition, 78. The vote in the other counties was at about the same ratio, and shows conclusively that the people want to elect senators themselves.

Geo. I. Lamy has just started his violin class for the fall term. If you want to study that kind of all instruments under the most rapid system known, consult that popular young orchestra leader and teacher.

Died.

In Carson City, Dec. 1, 1894, J. E. McDonald, a native of Nova Scotia, aged 46 years.

Funeral will take place today under the auspices of the Odd Fellows, at 1 o'clock p. m., from the residence of the deceased.

Mr. McDonald was an old resident of Carson, and at one time was the proprietor of the St. Charles Hotel. He was a thrifty, energetic man, and made many friends in Carson. For about three years he has been ailing and suffering a great deal physically, and his death was not unexpected. He leaves a wife and family of young children.

Deceased was a son-in-law of Mr. James, a prominent rancher of Carson Valley.

Coming Press Gang

It is about time that some arrangement was made to entertain the Press gang, which will pass through Carson this month.

We offer as a suggestion that they be entertained on their arrival here with a collation at the Opera House with an address of welcome by the Governor.

They can then be driven out to the State Prison in carriages and see the famous tracks after which they can take the 4 o'clock train to Virginia city. This sort of a reception would not cost the citizens much and it would be a splendid advertisement of Carson.

Different Birds

It is said that the frigate bird can fly at the rate of 100 miles an hour and live in the air a week at a time without touching a roost.—Ex.

That's nothing. The "Washoe canary" has been known to live on air for two weeks, and as for "touching" a roost—well it's always somebody else's roost. If they were able to travel like the frigate bird it would be a blessing to the State, as they might leave it. But they don't do it—they live and die in Reno.—Silver State.

NIXON'S BALL.

A Brilliant Gathering at the Winnemucca Non Parti- san Shin Dig.

THE BELLES OF ALL PATRIES THERE IN FULL DRESS.

Nixon's grand Silver ball on Thanksgiving eve, to which all good people, irrespective of party were invited, was a very swell affair and largely attended.

The ticket received by the APPEAL editor was as follows:

GRAND SILVER BALL.

In Honor of the Silver Party
THANKSGIVING EVE, NOV. 28.

TICKETS ADMITTING

GENT AND LADY

FREE.

COME EVERYBODY.

On the back of the ticket was the following endorsement: "If the doorkeeper gives you any lip, knock him down and walk in."
Signed:

Geo. Nixon.

In order to give everybody an equal show, the following reception committee was selected:

H. M. Yerington, A. C. Cleveland, D. L. Bliss, J. C. Dougety, Roswell Colcord, C. C. Powning, John Dennis and Hirsch Harris. It was pleasant to see the unity occasioned by the mingling of the old parties. Hirsch Harris and John Dennis led the Grand March arm in arm, followed by H. M. Yerington and Black Wallace.

Mrs. A. C. Cleveland refused to go to the ball with her husband on the ground that she did not attend such gatherings with beaten candidates.

He accordingly wired an invitation to the APPEAL editor's wife—on which we had to pay $2 charges.—She declined on precisely the same grounds taken by Mrs. Cleveland, and as the writers dress suit had been spoiled at the Stewart banquet, she went with Billy Westerfield, leaving us at home.

Mrs. Governor Colcord accepted an invitation to go along with Mr. and Mrs. John E. Jones, and the Governor took Mr. Hyslop to show that he had no unkind feelings for the Democracy. Mrs. Westerfield accepted an invitation from George W. Richard, who took her in a sleigh, the snow on the road being quite deep enough.

Eckley and McCarthy, the two Jones, swapped wives and went in a four-in-hand, Mr. Dunn acting as driver. Eugene Howell hired a spanking team and took Mr. Vanderleith, also treating him to an oyster supper and champagne.

Bob Beatty came to the ball room about midnight with Jimmy Torreyson, and tried to clean out the place because everybody's programme was full.

Theo Winters started with a mule team from Washoe, and got stalled on the way.

Frank Newlands attempted to drive from Reno with Bartine, but both laid over at Wadsworth to make speeches, as they had heard that the Washoe Commissioners had thrown out the precinct, and there was going to be another election.

Charlie Mack was there by about 222 majority, but Judge Rising remained at home in San Francisco, but wired regrets from his Jones street residence.

By mere oversight no invitation was extended to George Peckham, the man who ran for Governor on the Populist ticket. Nixon said he was unable to find anyone who knew his address. Of course Reinhold Sadler led the German and C. A. LaGrave was simply greatin the Lancers Quadrille.

A. C. Cleveland was dressed dapperly and wore a new pair of store pants, creased in front. Nixon had a genuine Rhine stone solitaire, in his necktie and was much complimented.

O. H. Grey's suspenders broke about 2 o'clock and he was carried out. John Dennis threw Harris out of a window about 2:30 and the friends of Harris came back and killed Dennis dead. The cadaver was thrown under the musicians stand, and the dance went on. About 4 o'clock the musicians became tired and amateur musicians were called for. A new orchestra was soon on deck composed as follows: 1st violin, Harry Flannery; second violins, H. M. Yerington, D. L. Bliss and Roswell Colcord. Trumpets, Bob Beatty, Chas. Mack and James Torreyson. Cornet, M. A. Murphy. Snakbut, Billy Sharon. Obo, Jim Haines. Bass drums, C. C. Powning and M. S. Bonfield.

At midnight all hands went to the Criterion Restaurant for supper, where cold turkey and roast crow was served.

The dance closed at 7:30 in the morning. The hall was so crowded at times that 68 couples had to dance on the roof.

The Ormsby Closes.

Yesterday the Ormsby House closed its doors and is now offered for lease. Years ago the hotel under Pantland's management was the pride and glory of the State. It was owned by some wealthy men in San Francisco who instructed "Pant" to run it up to the hilt. He did so until there was little left of the hotel but the handle. He gave a fine delicious meal for a dollar, and if his friends didn't have any money he charged it to profit and loss and opened the champagne.

It was a great place for theatrical people. "Pant" was never known to charge the leading lady or son-brette anything and sometimes he called the bills of a whole troupe if it suited his fancy. He set a good face for all piteous landlords and there never was one who could keep up the lick. It has had quite an assortment of them but the hotel has gradually been on the down grade.

In times past candidates for the U. S. Senate always paid $100 a day for the front parlors while the fight lasted. The last time Fair ran the Sharp Bros charged him $100 a day and he quit in the middle of the first day. The hotel never recovered from the blow.

Kennedy "New Era" Notes

Twenty stamps have been dropping at the Imperial mill.

The Irish boys are still working in ore in the face of their crosscut tunnel. The width of the vein has not yet been determined.

Another shipment of ore from the Hidden Treasure mine left here yesterday by Joe Acker's teams. One hundred and fifty sacks of ore remain on the dump, and more rock is being extracted.

W. Garrard, a mining man from Angel's Camp, California, is inspecting the mines at Kennedy district. Mr. Garrard is well known throughout this State, his father having acted as Warden of the Nevada State Prison and also as Superintendent of the Carson Mint.

A. Neuschwander, who has the borax plant 30 miles south of here, is producing about 30 tons of refined borax a month. The marsh is proving a highly remunerative business. Borax is worth seven cents a pound, making the monthly product of his plant $3000.
